

Como 20065 Staff Impression

With an easy, welcoming smile that softens his distinctive Roman nose, Como is the familiar and relatable guy next door. His oval face, tapering slightly to a defined chin, is framed by thick, dark eyebrows that complement his warm brown eyes. A neatly trimmed beard and mustache, with just a touch of stubble along his jawline, add to his rugged charm. His dark brown hair is short on the sides and wavier on top, naturally forming a widow's peak. Standing 5'9" with a lean build, his medium olive-toned skin carries a natural, sun-kissed tan.

Como is a devoted family man who finds joy in turning everyday moments into adventures with his wife and young daughter. Childhood memories of cooking with his mom now shape the dishes he prepares at home, while evenings are often filled with lively music or family game nights. Baseball has been a lifelong passion, one that started in Little League and still lights him up today. He's also naturally athletic, picking up sports like hockey or tennis with ease after just a bit of practice.

Easygoing and approachable, Como has a laid-back, friendly nature that shifts into focused determination when needed. He's loyal, dependable, and hardworking, always looking for ways to be helpful and to grow by seeing things from new perspectives. Above all, he's most proud of his wife and daughter, whom he considers the best part of his life. His goal is simple but meaningful: to build and sustain a happy, comfortable life with them. That same deep sense of commitment to family is what inspired him to become a donor, hoping to help others create loving family traditions of their own.
