Silla 10815 Staff Impression

Silla has an oval face that tapers gently at the chin, complemented by a smooth forehead, a warm light-to-medium olive complexion, and thick, straight black hair. His dark eyes sit behind thin, round metal glasses and beneath medium-dark brows with a subtle arch. His nose is straight, with a soft bridge and rounded tip. His smile is relaxed at the lips, but it brightens his whole face. Silla has a lean, proportional build with average-width shoulders and subtle muscle definition. A small tattoo on his upper right arm adds a personal touch to his otherwise clean-cut appearance.

Silla is a well-rounded blend of sharp analytical ability and genuine care for others. With a bachelor's degree in computer science and experience in software, renovation, coaching, people management, and counseling work, he is comfortable moving between technical problem-solving and meaningful human connection. He can troubleshoot code, handle car maintenance, install flooring or lighting, and sit with someone long enough to help them find balance. He is drawn to practical, useful work that helps life run more smoothly for others. He plays drums and guitar and teaches students with his characteristic patience. Outside of work, he enjoys home improvement projects, volleyball, pickup basketball, and learning new skills. Friends describe him as loyal, steady under pressure, quick to give people the benefit of the doubt, and clear about his boundaries when they matter.

Silla hopes his donation may help open the door for someone else to build the family they have been hoping for.
