

Gaston 14262 Staff Impression

Gaston is a head-turner! A U.S. Marine with a passion for mixed martial arts, he has an unmistakably athletic figure with broad shoulders and powerfully built through his chest and arms. He is clean-cut and chiseled with short, dark hair, hazel eyes that rest below straight brows, and a well-defined jawline completes his look. His medium-toned skin tans easily, no sunbathing required.

Beyond his physicality, Gaston's mind is just as impressive. Fluent in both English and Japanese, he processes information quickly and excels at mental math. A lifelong voracious reader, he pairs intellect with creativity, once spending years playing piano and sketching, and now channeling that artistic drive into 3D modeling and animation. Once he picks something up, he masters it fast. Gaston is a natural-born competitor with an impressive athletic résumé. These days, his energy is devoted to MMA and martial arts, which he pursues relentlessly. He keeps active through hiking, weighted ruck runs in the mountains, biking, and jiu-jitsu. Despite his intensity, he prides himself on being a guy who never loses his temper and is rarely in a bad mood. As far as values, he is deeply principled and passionate about standing up for what's right. He is currently working toward a personal training certification with a long-term goal of becoming a physical therapist. He lives simply and deliberately, valuing health, discipline, and purpose over material excess. He's chosen to donate to offer not just strong physical traits, but the foundation of discipline, resilience, and drive.
