

Trujillo Staff Impression

Trujillo is a teddy bear of a man with a calm and friendly personality and a large, athletic build that hints at his active nature. His square-shaped face features a strong jawline and warm brown eyes that convey kindness, complemented by thick eyebrows. His straight nose and full lips form a natural, easy smile, adding to his approachable vibe. With tan skin, wavy dark brown hair, he has a classic, timeless handsomeness that works in any setting.

Born in Venezuela to Portuguese parents, Trujillo and his sister were raised by supportive parents who emphasized persistence, compassion, and open communication, qualities that clearly shaped who he is today. With a BA in Administration under his belt and a talent for math and mechanics, he's as comfortable crunching numbers as he is fixing things with his hands. Speaking Spanish, English, and Portuguese fluently has opened doors for him to connect with people from all walks of life. When he's not working toward his goal of a career in politics (he's passionate about serving people), you'll find him staying active with volleyball or tennis, taking long walks, or relaxing at home with his beloved dogs and a good book. He dreams of one day traveling to Africa to experience its incredible wildlife and landscapes. His decision to become a donor stems from a simple but powerful desire: he wants to help families experience the joy and fulfillment that comes with having children.
